

STANDING VOICE NEEDS VOLUNTEERS

UKEREWE ISLAND
JUNE/JULY 2018

Are you a tailor, ceramicist, or landscape architect?
An actor, artist, or radio producer
Recent graduate? Business professional?

This is a unique opportunity to share your skills and transform the lives of others.

Standing Voice is recruiting expert volunteers from around the world to help deliver the Summer Skills Workshop 2018: a comprehensive training programme bringing together people with albinism, and their families and loved ones to develop skills, build businesses, and celebrate one another's differences!

To do this, we need all the help we can get: if you—or anyone you know—has a particular skill, experience, or interest in any of the areas above, get in touch. Together you will travel with Standing Voice to Tanzania to deliver workshops, train communities, and transform lives.

To hear the stories of the people you'll meet, click here.

Volunteers will be required to cover their own expenses for flights, accommodation, and food.

Even if you're not trained in our specified professions, you may have a valuable talent for sport, pottery, construction, or another trade! Please get in touch.

Places are competitive. To apply, please fill out an expression of interest form and send it to info@standingvoice.org.

Looking back on this year's workshops, we can see a common story: a vulnerable and divided community coming together to speak up and find new hope in new crafts; a forgotten population rewriting its future with the weapon of skill and talent. Please click here to read the stories of our 2017 Summer Skills Workshop trainers and volunteers.

With your help, the Summer Skills Workshop can be bigger and better than ever when it returns in 2018.
