FEBRUARY 2017

Only two months into 2017, we have already been able to create some amazing highlights this year. Not only have we continued providing our life-saving services through our Skin Cancer Prevention Programme in Shinyanga, but Standing Voice has been featured in a brand new BBC Documentary 'Born Too White'. This film explores the persecution of people with albinism in Africa. Through the support of our wonderful partners, we have also been able to embark on an exciting project broadcasting the voices of Tanzanian youth. We have also begun recruiting volunteers and raising funds for a Summer Skills Workshop in June of this year!
